Comment on the Appointment.

Post-Dispatch.
The last qualification for office is a steady, hardy mark on your left arm; then, "you are, you are, indeed, my brother."

The appointment of Brother Darwin as Warden of the Penitentiary should silence the complaints of those representatives of the laboring classes who have been protesting against the appointment as Labor Commissioner of a foreign nobleman named Von Scotch-wisky. The labor reformers should be thankful that the Governor did not set one of his brothers over them.

Globe-Democrat.
Governor Marmaduke is not as much of a scriptural scholar as we would wish, but we are glad to see that the eighth verse of the fifth chapter of St. Paul's First Epistle to Timothy seems to have made a deep impression upon him. "But if any provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel." In appointing his brother, Mr. Darwin Marmaduke, to be Warden of the Penitentiary, the Governor gives evidence that he accepts, in letter and in spirit, this small sub-section of the Pauline doctrine.

Republican.
The only objection that can possibly be raised against the appointment of Mr. Darwin Marmaduke as Warden of the State Penitentiary is that he is a brother of the Governor. The appointee is well known throughout the State as a gentleman of thorough and correct business principles and habits, and his recommendations are from among the most influential people in Missouri. The pressure for a change in the affairs of the prison was great, and with the responsibilities resting upon the Executive it was quite natural that in the position named he should desire the services of one in whom he could place the greatest confidence. Mr. Darwin Marmaduke's appointment is warmly approved by the Board of Inspectors of the Penitentiary, as well as by the heads of its different departments.

Free Distribution.

"What causes the great rush at P. R. Crisp's Drug Store?" The free distribution of sample bottles of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the most popular remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchitis now on the market. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

Wonderful Progress in Horse Breeding.

The great demand for large work horses has led to extreme experiments in breeding the small mares of Western ranges to large Percheron stallions. The results, contrary to public belief, have proven remarkably successful. From these mares, weighing from 700 to 800 pounds, when bred to a Percheron stallion, are produced horses that possess about one-half the united weight of sire and dam, and while partaking of the characteristics of the sire, they lose none of the endurance and hardihood of the dam, selling readily for from $100 to $200.

As the vast herds of the long-horned, gaunt Texas cattle, worth but a few cents a pound that appeared on our markets a few years since, have been improved by the use of short-horn and Hereford blood, and are now recognized by the blood-like looking steers, worth from 5 to 6 cents a pound, now coming from the range as their descendants; so may we expect the same result in the horses that are being brought from the West and Southwest and sold through the states at from $25 to $50 a head. It is not surprising that in our markets by their descendants of triple their value being of sufficient size to work, and showing the character and docility of their sires.

One of the best evidences of the success of this method of breeding is deduced from the fact that M. W. Dunham, of Wayne, Ill., the greatest importer of draft horses in America, and whose stables have been the source of all the pure bred Percheron stallions now in breeding upon Western ranges, and who has had the benefit of the experience of M. W. Dunham, of South Bend, Ind., and John A. Witter, of Denver, Col., and invested half a million dollars in range and stock. The present year they are breeding about 2,000 mares to 32 of the finest imported Percheron stallions. The uniformity, beauty and size of the colts produced from the range mares and the imported sires, has attracted the attention of many of the progressive breeders of the West, notably the Hon. M. E. Post, Member of Congress, from Wyoming, who has one of the finest bands of horses, and probably one of the largest and best ranges in that territory, consisting of 100,000 acres under fence, recently purchased. During the past year Mr. Post has bought from Mr. Dunham 15 imported Percheron stallions and two imported Percheron mares; also, the Oregon Horse and Land Co., located on Snake River and owning 8,000 horses, and the imported sires, has attracted the attention of many of the progressive breeders of the West, notably the Hon.
